Supervised Visitation Awareness Month

A Supervised Visitation Center (SVC), like the CONNECT SVC, offers a secure, neutral environment where children can connect with their parents. The CONNECT SVC offers an environment free from outside distractions and influences, where Island children and their non-custodial parent can spend time together and foster the important parent-child relationship.

The CONNECT SVC is Hiring!

What Does a Supervised Visit Look Like?

During supervised visits, children are able to engage in play with their non-custodial parent under observational supervision from trained staff. The CONNECT SVC recognizes the importance of play in strengthening relationships in childhood, and beyond, which is why it is at the center of visits. Time during visits is often spent in play doing a craft, constructing a block tower together, or building a puzzle, among many other collaborative activities.

Our Mission

The mission of CONNECT to End Violence is to reduce domestic and sexual violence on Martha's Vineyard by changing the social norms through education, advocacy and community mobilization and providing crisis intervention services including advocacy for counseling and support services for victims, survivors and their significant others.
